Baro-centric approach for predicting perioperative blood transfusions: a matched case-control study. Preoperative anaemia is an important factor in patients undergoing major surgical procedures. We conducted a matched case-control study to identify patients at risk of undergoing perioperative blood transfusions. Patients undergoing major elective non-cardiac surgery and/or (angiography) angioplasty or peripheral vascular surgery under general anaesthesia from February to April 2006 were included. Patients receiving packed red blood cell (PRBC) transfusions (group A) were matched for age, type of surgical procedure, ASA status and use of statins (group B). Preoperative anaemia was defined according to the World Health Organization's guidelines. Group B patients were younger (mean age: 60 +/- 14 vs 68 +/- 14 years, $P = 0.01$), more likely to have a history of coronary artery disease (CAD) (73 vs 19%, $P = 0.02$) and fewer had hypertension (69 vs 91%, $P = 0.001$). A large proportion of group B patients were taking statins (85 vs 28%, $P = 0.02$). Transfusions were more likely to be volume-replete when group B patients received PRBC (63 vs 30%, $P = 0.05$). Mean estimated intraoperative blood loss was higher for group A than B patients (1475 +/- 696 vs 1114 +/- 663 ml, $P = 0.01$). Multivariate analysis revealed that a preoperative haemoglobin of 70 years were associated with increased risk for perioperative PRBC transfusions. Compared with a bar 648931e174

It's a tool that can take a full backup of all data on your computer, save and restore this backup. Q: Reading a Contact List into a Template In my system I am building up a Contact List (Drupal 7). Using Drupal, I have a problem figuring out how to load in and display information to Drupal. In my contrib module I define a new view to be used for this list. Here are my steps: Create a new view of type 'Table' with 'Contact List' as the display, and set up a Show with a few fields, like 'Last Name', 'First Name', 'Title'. In the Content type for the list I made sure that I have permission to view the views (Content type - View - No setting needed) Add a Mapping Type (select 'Contact List' under 'Content') Add View 'First Name' and another View 'Last Name' to the Mapping Type The result is the 'First Name' View displays the data I want, but I can't figure out how to use that View with a template. In the list view I set a View Display to 'Contact List' I set up a template file for the view and when I preview it, I see the field details I used to create the View, but I can't figure out how to display the results. At the top of my template file I added:

Which prints out some markup but doesn't include the contact data. It's like the view doesn't even exist in the file. A: Thanks for all the comments, they were helpful. I ended up taking another approach to my problem that gave me better results. Instead of creating a custom module I created a 'Custom Content Type'
