The "net" refers to the vast interconnection of computers and communications facilities. A network typically comprises many individual computers or similar information-handling devices connected in such a way that they can communicate with each other. The Internet has an enormous and growing number of users, which has been increasing rapidly since the early 1990s. The number of "web" sites that are accessible to the public continues to grow, as do the number and size of business and corporate sites, and the number of e-commerce sites that have increased dramatically.
