What's new:

Sherwood Extreme is a freestyle motocross rider from Birmingham, Alabama. Early life Jimmer Berchelmeier was born into the culture of skaters, dirt bikes, and wheelies. As a young teen, he dove head first into freestyle motocross dirt biking, winning numerous BMX and motocross nationals. At 13 years old, he competed at Nationals in BMX and in motocross as a junior. He began racing dirt bikes when he was 11 years old at a local track. At 14 he entered the age group of 16-17 in Junior National Dirt Bike and Motocross. In his high school years, he had a multi-sport sports career, playing defensive tackle, running back, wide receiver, and kick returner; he also won the state championship in track. His passion for freestyle motocross only grew when one of his best friends and dirt bike riding buddy was electrocuted at 17. At 17 he turned his attention to motocross. Miscarriage At 17 Jimmer entered his first National Comp and started developing his freestyle career. Unfortunately at Nationals that year, during the qualifying round, his right shoulder popped out of the socket and he missed the entire season. This was a major setback in his career. Critical Phase When Jimmer woke up the next day he found out he would be able to get back the favor he had done to his friend with the help of physiotherapy. It was his first opportunity back on the bike. Due to increased pain in his shoulder, Jimmer was unable to make the next national motocross round. He had to seek assistance and have surgery, costing him the progression he had worked hard for. During this three-year struggle he stated "I didn't fit in the sport. I wasn't good enough to even have a chance." Derailleurs & Fork-Brakes In 1994, while struggling with the lack of traction on his bike he did begin a quest to seek out the best components on the market and eventually worked his way up to custom fitting. By 1996 he had perfected his gear-chain system and was competing in the National Freestyle Racing Association. The good days were only beginning. Even though there were good parts available then, he was constantly searching for a fork or cranks that were locked down to his needs. Eventually he even combined two systems to create the Hybrid suspension theory. Built for

"In this game you take on the role of an apprentice blacksmith, learning the trade from a master. Craft armor, weapons and various other items needed to survive in the world in a medieval setting. Game is at early stages of development but you will have many new features being added as we go on. So far you have a single life, full health bar and no means of healing you. You have to watch your resources carefully or you will run out." "This game is currently in early alpha stages and so is very much unfinished. We have not set ourselves an estimated time for completion, other than to say we need time to finish off a number of different areas. The combat is very limited at this time, only melee, no ranged or ranged combat. Adding new items, weapons, classes and gameplay are all planned to come as we progress. Currently there's no where to build walls or buildings, roads or barricades. There is no crafting cost and no cost to repairs and health potions either, also the game world is populated and populated with enemies and rare events. The game will be a testing ground for the new features we will be adding." "Early levels will have low population density, it's up to you as a player to build and recreate the world for yourself." Items: * 100+ items you can build for yourself * Housing, Shops and buildings to give you shelter or resources * City walls, barricades and mobs to protect your belongings. * Weapons to use against enemies * Armor to help protect your health and body * Magic and Firemaking * Stacked up, packed to the brim, in the shape of a tiny camping tent so you can open the top and awning to put out rain to keep you dry. 1 year ago Of

Darkness is a Builder/Survival game set in the medieval period. Build up large City's and Town's with over 100 items with more on the way. ONLY THE BUILDING SYSTEM IS MULTIPLAYER, THE COMBAT IS NOT

FEATURES:- In so far:- * You only have one life so use it wisely
